Durastrand PointSIX benefits for builders are real and remarkable. Not only does Durastrand hold the line on edge swell, it also features a precise tongue-and-groove profile for a secure fit and is APA-approved for structural integrity. Best of all, even though Durastrand technology adds immeasurable value in terms of performance, it is offered... at no extra cost.

THE PROOF: 14-DAY FLOOD TEST

Durastrand has been extensively researched and tested in the manufacturing facilities. One rigorous test involved flooding Durastrand floor panels with water for 14 days, simulating severe wet jobsite conditions. The result: After two weeks of flooding, Durastrand Flooring dried out firm and flat, successfully containing edge swell to just 0.01 inches—not much more than a sheet of paper.

EDGE SWELL HAS MET ITS MATCH

Introducing Durastrand pointSIX[®], a whole new approach to the age-old problem of edge swell. This engineered subfloor solution is designed to accommodate whatever wet stuff the weather serves up thanks to a patented tapered-edge technology that offsets the effects of moisture. The result: floors that go down flat and stay that way.
